TRANSACTING HIS

Government Printing Office During Summer Months to Close at Noon Saturdays.

Public Printer Charles A. Stillings said to a Times reporter today that he never felt better in his life. He will not able to use his sprained ankle for at least a week or ten days. "Since meeting with the accident four weeks ago last Saturday," said the Public Printer at the Printing Office this afternoon, "I have, in my rooms at the Ontario, given personal attention to the more Important affairs of the office. that I can resume active work I will be at the office every day."

Mr. Stillings, when told of the start ling daily rumors concerning his serious condition; that he was suffering from this, and a victim of that, and he could not live more than a month, etc., iaughed heartily. "Yes," he said, "quite a few of the rumors reached me, but personally they gave me no con-cern. But I den't look like a sick man, Beginning Saturday the employes of the Printing Office will enjoy a halfthe Printing Office will enjoy a half-day holiday, leaving the office at noon. It had been the custom to shut down at 1 o'clock on Saturdays during July, August, and September. Mr. Stillings strongly recommended to the President that the order closing the Printing Office at noon on Saturday during the summer be issued.

MARTIN TRUST BILL

President Roosevelt will continue his "trust-busting" policy next year by lending his influence to the Martin bill which, if passed will place all the lines any way controlling the necessities of life under the control of the Department of Commerce and Labor. This was the gist of the statement made by Representative Martin, father of the drastic measure, after he had had a conference with the President.

COLUMBIA THEATER CO. IN A REVIVAL OF "JANE"

Guy Standing and the Columbia Theater Company will next week enter upon the tenth week of their successful summer engagement at the Columbia with a splendid revival of "Jane," a comedy in three acts by William Lestocq and Harry Nichols, which enjoys the distinction of being-like "Pink Dominos"-one of the most amusing and successful stage offerings of the past two decades. Saturday evening of the present week will be souvenir night on which occasion every feminine member of the audience will receive a fine autographed photograph of Mr. Standing, the leading man of the company, these pictures having been specially made for the occasion at the Harris-Ewing studios. The sale of seats for next week opened at the box office this morning. Usual matinees Thursday and Saturday.

EVANGELICAL SERVICES DRAW LARGE AUDIENCES

Goodly audiences have been taxing the seating capacity of the evangelical tent, Thirty-third and Q streets northwest, Georgetown. Last night a large audience listened to Evangelist Wiliknson's discourse upon "Christ's Second Coming."

The subject for tonight is "Signs of Christ's Soon Coming," and for Sunday night, July 1, "The Eastern Question."

Dead White House Tree Was of Lincoln's Time

Sturdy Elm Destroyed by Storm Was Set Out in Days of Martyred Civil War President.

The row of thick, shade-producing elm trees along the walk in front of the White House grounds on Pennsylvania avenue, has been considerably marred by the removal, yesterday, of one of the largest and oldest trees of the number. The big elm, which was planted during the Presidency of Abraham Lincoln, was denuded of a number of its large branches by the heavy wind storm Saturday afternoon. At first, tree experts, under the direction of Colonel Bromwell, Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, investigated the possibility of restoring the tree to health and further.
